Freight to Dawson

Before concluding any arrangement for shipping your freight from Bennett to Dawson, please write or give us a call. By using our barges you can carry your freight for very much less than what steamboats would charge you. Two thousand tons were sent down to Dawson in our barges during the season of 1898 without loss or accident. Cattle shipped in this way arrive without loss of weight and in the best possible condition for making good beef. On your arrival at Dawson you have your own warehouse, and, if necessary, your own dwelling, and you can move your goods when you are ready and not before. This may save you hundreds of dollars for teaming, storage etc. while at the same time you run no risk from fire. Insurance on route on cargo may be effected at our office if you so desire. If you wish to make rapid time we will arrange a tow for you past the lakes. No delays. Verify these facts before shipping your freight and it will save you money. Lumber, boats and merchandise of all kinds constantly on hand at our mills. Living expenses a minimum.

Down from Unalakleet.

Mr. H. E. Rattin, U. S. Internal revenue collector for Alaska, who has been on a business trip to Unalakleet, Dutch Harbor and the Cook Inlet country, arrived home on the City of Seattle yesterday and reports that things are quiet in that part of the country. At Sitka City a little gold has been taken out, but not enough to cause much excitement. There are still hopes for the Copper River country. He also reports that there is not much internal revenue business in that section of the country.

The hearing of the smuggling case will come up some time today.

The lot jumping case of J. St. Clair Blackett vs. J. H. Patten will come up today before a jury.

The cases against Harry Williams and Kid Gallagher, the assailants of Boss Baker Bauer, will be tried before Judge Schibbole as soon as Mr. Bauer is able to appear in court. The culprits are still in jail. Mr. Bauer suffered a broken nose, which is being cared for by a surgeon.

Fistic Stars in Town.

Peter Jackson, the greatest colored pugilist, and Frank Slavin, the ex-English champion, arrived on the City of Seattle yesterday on their way to Dawson, where Slavin has valuable mining interests. At the request of numerous sporting men, the two champions will give an exhibition of their powers in the armory next Friday evening. While Jackson was in his prime Jas. J. Corbett, with whom he fought a 72-round draw, was the only man who dared to go against him. Slavin for several years claimed the world's championship, but never was able to completely acquire that title, owing to difficulties in arranging a match with other claimants.

Besides these two fistic stars, several local fighters of some promise are to mix up. There will be six six-round matches besides the principal go.

Jackson and Slavin are stopping at the Mondamin. During his fight career Jackson enjoyed the distinction of being the best dressed man in the sporting business, but yesterday he appeared in a bicycle suit.

A City Together Returns.

Councilman John Stanley returned from a trip to Seattle, Portland and San Francisco yesterday. He reports business as booming in Seattle and San Francisco. At the latter place he spent six days visiting his relations and friends. At Portland he looked up Mr. Long and found that the new castings for extending the fire hydrants are being made, and the supplies will be up here in a week or ten days. Mr. Stanley is in fine health and looks as if the trip had agreed with him.

HELP FOR HOSPITAL

A Large Meeting of Ladies and Gentlemen Took up the Matter.

The concert to be given by Madam Bluet, the prima donna, will receive the hearty support of the best ladies and gentlemen of the city, a large number of whom met at the Presbyterian annex last night to plan the work. A very enthusiastic meeting was held, with Mr. F. M. Woodruff, chairman, and Mr. R. B. Duffin, secretary. After considerable discussion, the proposal to hold the concert in the armory was abandoned and the grand program will be given in Firemen's hall next Monday evening. The price of tickets for each person was fixed at $1.00 for general admission and $1.50 for reserved seats.

After the concert there will be a dress soiree, and refreshments will be served. The meeting selected several committees to carry on the different work, and Mrs. O. F. Searle was appointed general chairman of all the committees concerning the concert, soiree and refreshments.

The advisory committee consisted of Dr. I. H. Moore (chairman), Mr. and Mrs. Walter Church.

The program committee consists of Dr. L. S. Keller (chairman) and Mrs. F. A. Woodruff.

Mrs. Dent was appointed chairman of the hall committee, with power to appoint the other members.

The refreshment committee consists of Mrs. Bloom (chairman), Mrs. Atlock and Mrs. Sperry.

RAINY HOLLOW MINES

New Recording Office Established Beyond the Border.

Mr. J. D. Graham, gold commissioner of the Atlin district, returned yesterday from the new British Columbia copper and gold quartz fields in the Rainy Hollow district, sometimes called the Copper Blow-out country. He spent several days there, and established a mining recorder's office, which will be temporarily filled by Mr. W. H. Vidars, who is thoroughly experienced in such affairs. About sixty claims are staked and the recording will proceed without delay. Mr. Graham says the indications point to an extensive field, but he cannot speak with positiveness as to the merits of the district. He uncovered one vein which is ten feet wide and promises to yield well. Samples of copper, gold and silver quartz were brought out by Mr. Graham and will be assayed.

The trip to and from the district was made on horseback. Mr. Graham says the road or trail is a rough one and, according to his estimate, sixty miles long, but of gradual ascent from tide water, and of such a nature that a tramway could easily be built from Haines to the camp. Mr. Graham is the guest of the Brannick and will proceed this afternoon toward his headquarters in the Atlin district, where a great deal of business has piled up during his absence. He looks as if the long horseback ride had not hurt him.

Mr. Graham did not pay much attention to the Porcupine mines, through which he passed; but from the gold he saw and the quiet industry of the miners, he has an opinion that the mines are paying handsomely.

SAILOR BILL RETURNS ENROUTE TO ATLIN

The Florman Quartz Mines Sold for $500,000

THE MONEY ENROUTE

W. J. Partridge, the World Traveler, Arrives from London—English Capitalists Following With the Needful—The Mines to be Paid for by the First of September.

Mr. W. J. Partridge, better known as "Sailor Bill", returned to the city yesterday direct from London, where he spent a month, received there medals from the Lord Mayor of London for his valuable services to his countrymen in exploring and opening up new countries in the British possessions, and sold the Florman mines at Atlin for $500,000. He has the medals and certificates showing why they were given, signed by Sir Walter Wilkin, Lord Mayor of London.

Mr. W. J. Partridge left here in June last and went direct to London. He reports that through the great mining brokers, Haggarth, Hall & Pringle, he succeeded in selling the Florman quartz claims in the district for $250,000 to be paid to himself in Skagway on or before the first day of next October, and $250,000 to be spent in putting up a large stamp mill and other machinery at the mine, then a corporation is to be formed, and if it is capitalized for more than $1,250,000, Partridge is to receive ten per cent. of the excess. Ten days ago experts reached Atlin, and they are opening up the mines, and if the claims are what they have been represented, the sale will take place. These claims are known as the Anacoda group and embrace four ledge claims aggregating 216 acres. One of these ledges is 1000 feet wide, 2000 feet long and 100 feet above the mill site, and is said to have 17,000,000 tons of ore in sight and which can be taken to the mill without shaft or tunnel. This ore runs from 27 to 32 to the ton, but the assays are numerous and the sale will go if the ore stands up as claimed; and Sailor Bill says it is there, "bug as life and twice as natural."

Mr. Partridge says that in about ten days Lord Hamilton and Mr. Haggarth will arrive from London, which place they left on the 26th of August. Lord Hamilton is the head of the company which has bought the mine, and he brings authority to draw on London for the $250,000 to be paid to Partridge, who says he expects to be back in London before the first of November, never again to roam.

Partridge says the $500,000 was all in bank and at Lord Hamilton's disposal before he left London, and that the largest stamp mill in the world will be established within a mile of Atlin city, and that the machinery will be shipped in there just as soon as money can procure it. Mr. Partridge will leave for Atlin today.

LOST HIS TYPE WRITER

He Found a Passenger Who Had Gold and Marriage Proposal.

Mr. W. J. Partridge, the famous world traveler, the chum of millionaires and the companion of lords and dukes, was not able to hold a little short-hand type writer clerk to her agreement, to assist him in all his arduous duties of going to the Atlin country and turning over to some English capitalists the mines which have been sold for $500,000. As Mr. Partridge was traveling in Seattle, it occurred to him that he ought to have a secretary, so he advertised and got a feminine one, Miss Stewart by name. They came to Victoria last Sunday week and there waited the City of Seattle in which they had engaged passage. After boarding that vessel it was not long that a rich Dawsonite, a close friend of the great McDonald, was quite chummy with his private secretary; but his astonishment was greatly aroused when that young lady came to him with tears in her eyes and asked to be released from her contract, saying that she had been offered marriage by the rich Klondiker and they intended to leave the vessel at Juneau and seek a priest. A hundred thousand dollars more or less don't cut much figure with Mr. Partridge, but this request rather undid him. However, he recovered himself in time to grant her request before she quit crying. Before the happy couple left the vessel at Juneau they became quite affectionate to each other, and it was reported that the future husband had already given his sweetheart a full $1000 as evidence of the wealth he would shower upon her after their marriage. Mr. Partridge says the couple left the steamer at Juneau, and he was told that they had no difficulty in getting a license and a minister, and were soon made man and wife. Mr. Partridge seemed to be a little affected over the affair and the name of the purloiner of his typewriter had escaped his memory.

NEWS FROM NOME

Anvil City Has a Presidential Postoffice and is Lively.

C. S. Wayland, special inspector of the postoffice department for Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Alaska, was in the city last Saturday, being en route to Sitka on the Cottage City. Mr. Wayland has recently returned to the states from accompanying a military expedition from Cook Inlet, up Copper river and across to the headwaters of Tanana river, and thence down that stream to the Yukon. He reports that it is feasible to construct a wagon road and stage route to the interior by that route. From the mouth of the Tanana he went down the Yukon to Cape Nome to inspect the postoffice at Anvil City. He reports the trip up the Copper river as very laborious, but all went nicely down the Tanana, for they had taken boats with the expedition. At Anvil City he found business rushing and the receipts of the postoffice were more than $250 per quarter, which makes it a presidential office; and he at once authorized the postmaster, G. N. Wright, to employ an assistant at $1400 per year. The Anvil postoffice will be kept open all winter. Mr. Wayland left there August 8. He says there are from 2000 to 3000 people in Anvil City and lots of them in the mines; that money was plentiful, and the boys were "rilling 'em high."

Dry goods, underwear, outfitter's supplies, everything you can think of, at less than cost. The building is to be remodelled. Buckhard has sold it that settles it.

TONS OF GOLD DUST

2500 Pounds of Yellow Metal Came Out Last Night.

A shipment of 2500 pounds of gold dust from Dawson, on its way to the government assay office at Seattle, came out last night, consigned to the Canadian Development Company. Agent William Hislop went up on the train yesterday morning to receive the shipment, and accompanied it down to the city. The gold dust packed in the regular bullion boxes did not make much of a showing, and it was hard to realize that the boxes contained such a fortune. It was sent down on the City of Seattle last night.
